

The Georgia Environmental Protection Division (EPD) has scheduled training in Macon later this month for its new electronic permit application system for NPDES municipal wastewater permits and Title V air quality permits. The Brunswick training sessions scheduled for August have been postponed. However webinar style training will be provided.

The Georgia EPD Online System (GEOS) will help streamline the permitting process. Benefits of using the new GEOS application tool include:

- Gives permittees the ability to track their permit status electronically.
- Improved Program effectiveness and efficiency.
- Reduced workload for managing data.
- Reduction in printing and mailing costs.

Training also will be offered in Macon and through the webinar for NetDMR, which is an online tool for NPDES permit holders to file discharge monitoring reports. Using NetDMR to file electronic reports eliminates the need to mail paper copies. More information about NetDMR is available at <http://epd.georgia.gov/netdmr/>.

The Macon training sessions will be held on Aug. 26-27, 2015. The training will be held at:

Middle Georgia State University
Conference Room
100 College Station Drive
Macon, GA 31206

The Macon training times are as follows:

GEOS/NPDES Municipal Wastewater Permit Application: 9:00 am-12:00 pm on Aug. 26.

GEOS/Title V Air Quality Permit Application: 2:00 pm-5:00 pm on Aug. 26.

NetDMR: 9:00 am-2:00 pm on Aug. 27.
